The screenshot shows a web form for requesting access. It includes fields for E-mail Address, a challenge question, and Country of Citizenship. Below these are sections for Widgets and Links, each with a 'Remove All' button. The Widgets section lists Flight Data, Web Billing, Warranty, and DR Approver. The Links section lists Tooling, Used Parts, Warranty Claims, and Tooling Documentation. A 'Comments' field is highlighted with a blue border and contains the text 'Please provision access to Airframe Systems Technical Documents'. Below the comments field, there is a section for Delta Air Lines access to additional portals, with a checkbox for CWCI and a checkbox for accepting the Privacy Policy Terms. A security code field is also present. At the bottom are 'Request Access' and 'Back' buttons.

- In the comments field type "Please provision access to Airframe Systems Technical Documents"

Note: Systems customers should use the name and email address of their Customer Support Manager (CSM) or Field Service Engineer (FSE) if asked to provide their GE contact's information.

Once access has been approved, the latest versions of the documents to which your company is entitled will be available.

Airline Technical Libraries should have at least one person registered for on-line access to ensure that you are kept up to date with all document revisions to which your company is entitled.

For email notification of publications please refer to GEN-40

If you are unable to access publications on-line, please email: aviation.fleetsupport@ge.com
